International Cooperation

Overview

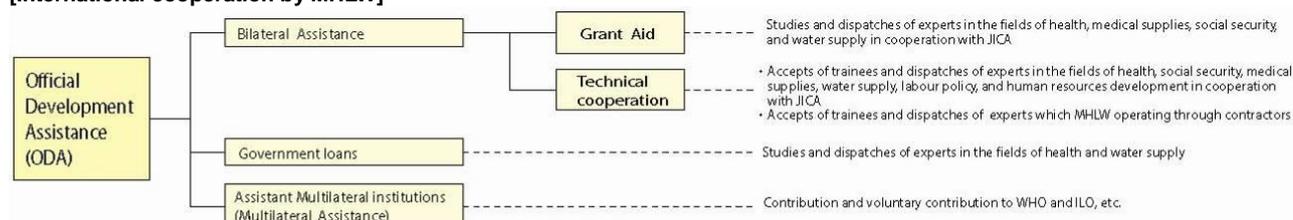

Current State of the Official Development Assistance (ODA)

Japan's ODA actual disbursements totaled approximately US$ 11,581.59 million in 2013 (excluding disbursements for Eastern Europe and graduated countries), and it ranked fourth behind the USA, the United Kingdom and Germany. The budget in FY2014 is ¥1,132.2 billion.

The disbursement ratio of bilateral ODA in social infrastructure development and associated services including health, water supply and sanitation, population field, labour policy and human resources development is 15.90% (including committed-based disbursement for Eastern Europe and graduated countries: US$ 3,449.73 million) in 2013, and it has been a pillar of Japan's ODA. The MHLW is advancing co-operation by way of dispatching experts and accepting trainees mainly in these fields.

- (Note)
1. Top 5 countries of the ILO scales of assessment in 2015 were [1] U.S.A (22.000%), [2] Japan (10.839%), [3] Germany (7.145%), [4] France (5.596%), and [5] U.K. (5.182%).
 2. Assessed contributions are compulsory share of financial contributions assigned to member countries based on the total budget and scales of assessment decided at the International Labour Conference. Contributions are funds provided by member countries and donors such as private foundations on a voluntary base.
 3. Since the WHO and ILO have reduced-payment systems for countries which pay their contribution early, Japan's assessed contributions divided by member states' total assessed contributions do not always match the Japanese contribution rate.

- (Note) 1. Activities of the OECD are administered by Part I contribution (it is allotted to core activities relating to the interests common to all member nations and Ministry of Foreign Affairs pays it collectively), Part II contribution (it is allotted to the project that some member nations participate in) and voluntary contribution (it is paid by member nations to a project on a voluntary basis). The Ministry of Health, Labour and Welfare makes financial contributions through Part II contribution and voluntary contribution.
2. Voluntary contribution is paid mainly to the fields of employment, health and social policies.
